

Norwalk Mentor Program gets $10K boost from First County Bank

Staff Report

NORWALK — First County Bank recently awarded $10,000 to the Human Services Council in support of the Norwalk Mentor Program.

“Our program could not continue without supporters like First County,” said Anthony DiLauro, executive director of the Human Services Council. “The work we do with the youth of the city of Norwalk and local organizations is so important. First County recognizes the importance and we are proud to partner with them.”

The Norwalk Mentor Program was established in 1986 in partnership with Norwalk Public Schools. It was the first school-based mentoring program in the country. The program matches students in grades K-12 with positive adult role models. HSC currently has 260 mentor/mentee matches and plans to expand the program.
